

Biography: Juan J. Vela, Solutions Marketing Director, Calix

With over 15 years experience in broadband access technologies, Juan Vela is a recognized telecommunications industry professional. A regularly featured author in trade publications and industry blogs, Juan is responsible for solutions marketing at Calix where he works to identify emerging market trends. Prior to joining Calix, he split his time between wireline service providers and broadband equipment suppliers, holding a variety of engineering, product management and marketing positions. Juan holds a BS in Electrical Engineering from the FAMU/FSU College of Engineering.